

RESUME FIGHT ALONG WESTERN LINE TUESDAY

FRENCH REPORT SAYS ALLIES' LINES MAINTAINED POSITIONS AGAINST ONSLAUGHT.

WHISPERS OF PEACE MOVE
Petrograd Rumors That Berlin Has Made Overtures to Russian Government.

WAR SUMMARY.

(Associated Press)
The German military machine has captured the Belgian town of Dixmunde. This is the first indication that the new attack by the Germans, described as their supreme effort and presumably marking a turning point in the war, has brought definite results.

"GOOD ADVANCE."

Berlin reports a "good advance" in the west.

RUSSIANS CHANGE.

Few details of the fighting in the east reach the outside world. It is reported that the Russians are changing their tactics, and are now relying on their huge masses of infantry, rather than on the cavalry. It is reported that the German crown prince has been placed in command of all the troops in the east.

FIGHTING IN SERBIA.

Heavy fighting continues on Serbian soil, and the Austrians claim many prisoners.

A French official report today says that fighting was resumed Tuesday morning with great severity between Niveport and Lys. The French were successful in maintaining their front, but the Germans, toward the end of the day, succeeded in taking a position near Dixmunde. The British troops were attacked at several different points, but repulsed the enemy everywhere.

THE HONORS OF WAR.

The Admiralty of London says the losses on the German cruiser Emden, which was destroyed yesterday by the Australian cruiser Sydney, are officially reported at 260 killed and 30 wounded. Capt. Von Muller and Prince Franz Joseph of Hohenzollern, one of the officers, are prisoners of war. Neither was injured. All the honors of war will be accorded the survivors and the captain and officers will not be deprived of their swords.

TURKISH CONSPIRACY.

An Athens dispatch says that a conspiracy has broken out in Constantinople against the Germans and the Young Turks, and that the chief conspirators have been shot. The population is said to be in a state of panic.

Sickels Tells of Dixon Hunters In Wisconsin

(By E. A. SICKELS)

"Cold Water Camp," 25 miles from Hayward, Nov. 7, 1914.—In compliance with your request and in fulfillment of my promise I will give you a brief account of our experiences to date. Joe Miller and I left Dixon Oct. 24 at 5 a. m. in a Ford roadster. Joe had anticipated any emergency and we reached Hayward on schedule time, Oct. 29, 10 p. m., a distance of 508 miles, without any mishap; not even a punctured tire. As we passed Grand Detour we served as an alarm clock for Chas. Sheffield. No doubt we awakened every one in the quiet old village. Sheff told us later that if he could have found his shot gun we would never be alive to write this letter. We never stopped the engine till we reached Beloit at 9 a. m. Reached Madison at 11 a. m. and took aboard gasoline, oil and a very poor dinner and started to beat it for LaCrosse, which place we reached at 10 p. m. Drove the last seventy miles over from Elroy in the dark. We drove in relays and kept the little Ford wide open. The machine would not make over 37 miles per hour and we never let the speedometer register below 30.

Along Rock River.

The trip to Madison was along the Rock river and was beautiful. We drove through a beautiful farming country. Joe was almost overcome with remorse to see so many fields of

HON. J. P. DEVINE

Dixon Attorney and minority representative from this district who has been mentioned as a candidate for the speakership of the next General Assembly.

PACKEY'S BROTHER FOOLED DIXONITES

DIXON MEN DISCOVERED THAT PEOPLE OF THIS CITY WERE BAMBOOZLED.

The natives of Dixon have been bamboozled. The Packey McFarland, crack lightweight prize fighter, who was supposed to have spent the summer with the Galvins at Assembly park, was not the real Packey McFarland, but Thomas McFarland, his brother.

This was learned at the Welch-White fight at Milwaukee Monday evening by two local men, who were in attendance and who saw the real Packey McFarland introduced to the audience and who sat just a short distance from him during the fight.

The coming of the great Packey was heralded far and wide. He umpired a ball game in the City League as an extra attraction and his every move was noticed. We believed that it was really the great Packey, but wondered at his laxity in keeping in physical trim. Then we learned that we had been made the "foats" and that the real fighter spent just one day here, and that was the day Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion visited here.

Now we take off our hats to Thomas McFarland for posing as the great fighter and "getting away with it" so cleverly.

C. W. Lehman of Franklin Grove called in this city yesterday.

AMERICAN TROOPS WILL BE ORDERED FROM MEXICO SOON

WASHINGTON DEMANDS WERE GRANTED AT RECENT MILITARY CONFERENCE.

CARRANZA IS A MYSTERY

Expresses Willingness to Yield While His Nephew Moves the Troops.

(Associated Press.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—The American troops will probably be ordered out of Vera Cruz very soon, leaving the Mexican factions to settle their own differences, as a result of the recent developments which brought the guarantees demanded by Washington.

Carranza Mystery.

(Associated Press.)
El Paso, Tex., Nov. 11.—A telegram from Agnas Calientes says that the commission headed by General Obregon had informed the convention that General Carranza was disposed to turn over the government as soon as a provisional president and his cabinet had assumed control of the civil government of the nation. This mystifies the situation regarding the attitude of Carranza who previously had declared that he would not accept the convention's action in deposing him.

Agnas Calientes advises from Carranza sources Tuesday said: "Carranza informed the commission that while he was not bound in any way to recognize the validity of the convention's actions, or desired to give them formal recognition, he was prompted by feelings of patriotism to turn over the executive power of the nation and the chief command of the constitutional forces to any man named by the convention to govern for a definite pre-constitutional period, who would actually assume a real control over the division of the north, assuming command of the troops, and govern that portion of the republic in a like manner as all others."

LADIES IN CHARGE TONIGHT'S PROGRAM

CATHOLIC BAZAAR IS EXCEEDING EXPECTATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE.

The ladies of the W. C. O. F. will be in charge of the program to be given preliminary to the dancing at the Catholic bazaar at Rosbrook's hall this evening, the program being scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, and it is expected that another large crowd will be in attendance tonight.

Tuesday evening's attendance was beyond the expectations of the committee, and as a result the bazaar is proving more of a financial and social success than any of recent years. The program for this evening is: Piano Duet—Madame Kent and Miss Bess Deming; Vocal Solo—Miss Vada Anna Fagan; Fe. Sing—Miss Vada Hill; Vocal Solo—Miss Bess Deming.

ROOF FIRE THIS MORNING

The fire department answered a call to the residence of Michael Murphy on Nachusa avenue, between Broadway and Woodlawn avenues, at about 9 o'clock this morning. The roof of the dwelling became ignited from sparks from the chimney and a small hole was burned. The department extinguished the blaze without difficulty or damage beyond the small hole.

Latest Returns Indicate Election of J. M'Can Davis

Unless the official canvass in four counties, including Cook, shows big discrepancies over the unofficial returns, J. McCann Davis, republican, has defeated Congressman at Large Williams of Pittfield, democrat, by a plurality of more than 2,300.

Official returns from all counties except Cook, Massac, Mason and St. Clair, were reported to the secretary of state yesterday. They gave Davis 260,495 and Williams 219,393.

Complete but unofficial returns from the four missing counties give the following:

	Williams.	Davis
Cook	135,654	96,551
Massac	394	1,448
Mason	2,116	1,387
St. Clair	8,372	9,442
Other counties	219,393	260,495
Total	365,929	369,233

Davis' plurality is 3,304. Burnett M. Chipperfield, the other republican, has a plurality over Williams of 13,072.

Erbstein Ready To Pull Out Of Murder Trial

Manner In Which He Has Been "Sat Down On" By Judge Peeves Him.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Morrison, Nov. 11.—Because of the manner in which he has been "sat down on" a number of times in the trial of the Byers murder case here, it is not at all unlikely that Attorney Charles E. Erbstein of Chicago may withdraw from the case at any time. Since the trial started several battles of repartee have transpired between Judge Graves and the celebrated Chicago criminal lawyer, and in each of these the Cook county barrister has been returned a second.

To the reporters who are "covering" the trial Erbstein stated during recess this morning, that one more "set down" similar to the ones he had experienced and he would be ready to quit.

Much interest is being shown in the special meeting which will be held at the Congregational church at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Rev. T. E. Nugent of Kewanee, Rev. J. F. Parsons of Sheffield and Rev. C. F. Mills of Neponset will conduct the services.

SENIOR CLASS TO GIVE MINISTRELS IN NEAR FUTURE

ENTERTAINMENT WILL BE HELD AT DIXON OPERA HOUSE FRIDAY, NOV. 20.

DIRECTION MRS. W. H. SMITH

Affair will be known as Colonial Minstrels—It Will Include Farce Comedy.

The big event of the high school season takes place November 20, when the Senior class will entertain the people of Dixon and vicinity at the Opera House with the Colonial Minstrel show. Under the able direction of Mrs. W. H. Smith the enterprising members have practiced faithfully, and there is no doubt in the minds of the directors as to the success of the venture.

The Minstrels of this year's class will be different from anything ever before presented by home talent in this city. The colonial setting for the show is being shown for the first time. The colonial costumes worn by the young ladies with the different gags and frivolities of the young men of the class are extremely interesting features of the production.

The Fatal Necklace.
In addition to the regular minstrels which will contain a number of popular songs by the young men and young ladies, jokes by the young men, there will also be a second part consisting of a farcical comedy entitled "The Fatal Necklace." This part will be a laugh from the very start inasmuch as it is a continuous run of ridiculous wit and humor effectively worked out, with a simple plot. Also between the first and second.

MUSICAL CLUB IN FINE ENTERTAINMENT

ELKS CLUB WAS SCENE OF VERY PLEASING PROGRAM ON TUESDAY EVENING.

The entertainment given by the Chicago Musical Club at the Elks' Club Tuesday evening was acknowledged by music lovers to have been one of the best ever given in this city. The entertainment was the first of a series which will be given by the House committee of the Elks during the winter months.

The club is composed of six artists of rare musical ability and they presented a most pleasing program of instrumental music and songs. Their ability as individuals and ensemble was of a very high class.

John Devine Is Mentioned For The Speakership

Dixon Representative May Be Minority Candidate In Next Legislature

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Jeremiah J. O'Rourke of Harvey and John P. Devine of Dixon are the first two democratic candidates in the field for speaker of the house of representatives in the next legislature. Representative O'Rourke's candidacy was announced yesterday. Representative Devine told his friends he was going after the speakership as the down-state candidate. Democrats are planning on a caucus to name their candidate. Unless the Republican majority can be broken up the caucus nominee will simply be the minority floor leader. Reports are that Lee O'Neil Browne of Ottawa will be a candidate again.

Dixon—Representative Devine was out of the city today and the statement from Chicago that he is an avowed candidate for the speakership could not be verified. He has many friends in the district who would feel personal pleasure should he be chosen for the position.

FREEPORT CHILD KILLED BY CAR

EIGHT YEAR OLD GIRL VICTIM OF STREET CAR ACCIDENT.

Freeport, Nov. 11.—While returning home from the East Freeport school, where she was a student, Hazel Bursing, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bursing, 1 Johanna street, East Freeport, was killed at noon today. She was struck by city car No. 15 and the wheels passed over her body cutting it almost in two. She died within a minute after being struck. The car was in charge of Motorman L. D. Fowler, but the accident was in no way Fowler's fault. The child it is said, had defective eyesight, and presumably she did not see the car approach although the motorman rang the bell several times. Fowler applied the brakes as quickly as possible but was unable to save the child.

God In The Microscope And God In Instinct

Dr. John P. D. John continues to hold the interest of the large audiences that attend his lectures at the Methodist church. Last night he delivered an address on "A Glimpse of God in the Microscope." The lecture was on the subject of the teachings of science with the higher developments of the twentieth century. The theme of his subject last night was prefaced by the axiom "The whole cannot be greater than the sum of its parts. It is impossible to stretch two and two into five." In this connection Dr. John said: "In a piece of living tissue we find three things—nutriment matter, formed matter and germinal matter." Then followed a discussion of known scientific facts concerning the cell; facts upon which both the church and science are agreed.

SAYS "PET" WAS BRUTAL TO PARENTS

MRS. EMMA HUTTON SWEARS TO MANY ALLEGED ACTS OF EXTREME BRUTALITY.

HE THREATENED THEIR LIVES

Witness Says He Threatened to Kill Her and Her Sister Many Times.

(By Staff Correspondent)
Morrison, Ill., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Emma Hutton will probably not be called upon to face the grilling cross examination of Assistant States Attorney Walter Stager before tomorrow morning, for at noon today she had not nearly completed her direct testimony, and it was the consensus of opinion among the court attaches that she would not be through with that ordeal until late this afternoon.

Tells of Brutality.

When court adjourned Tuesday afternoon Judge Graves took under advisement the objection of the state that Mrs. Hutton's testimony regarding Emmanuel Byers' alleged brutality was not pertinent to the case.

This morning the judge ruled that the witness be permitted to testify concerning alleged brutality as far as to showing acts of viciousness toward human beings and recent enough as to operate in the minds of the defendants. He held, however, that actions of the deceased toward animals was not pertinent to the trial, and further that any testimony the defense might offer showing recent brutality toward human beings was subject to rebuttal by the state.

During 14 Years.

Mrs. Hutton then testified that on many occasions during the past fourteen years Emmanuel Byers had threatened to kill her and her sisters; that he had beaten his wife several times and that on numerous occasions he had beaten and abused his mother and father.

She related alleged specific circumstances of a number of examples of the brutality with which she charges her brother, and it is contemplated that her direct testimony along this line and especially concerning Emmanuel Byers' attitude toward her and her sister will take up nearly all of the afternoon session.

The new company opened for business at noon today with George W. Hunt as general manager. A large amount of grain was delivered to the new company on their first day's run.

Mrs. George H. Squires is spending the day in Chicago.

God In The Microscope And God In Instinct

In discussing the origin of life the lecturer said: "Whence the first cell? There was a time when no life existed on earth, and therefore no cell. Materialism not being able to bridge the chasm between the living and the nonliving matter steps out on the plank of faith. It says that, somehow, in the turmoil of a cooling planet, the atoms may have fortuitously rushed together in such proportions as to give birth to the first cell. But the scientist today says there is no life except from pre-existing life. Physical force, then not being able to produce life from nonliving matter, whence came the force which raised the dead matter to life? "You cannot stretch two and two

Joseph Odenthal, both of this city, were united in marriage at Salt Lake City, Utah, at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Oct. 29, news of the happy consummation of their romance having been received by relatives here today. The information was to the effect that they were attended by Miss Edna P. McIntyre and S. W. Case, and had gone to San Diego, Cal. where they will make their future home. D. A. R. Meeting.

The November meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held at the beautiful home of Mrs. E. H. Brewster which was largely attended and a most interesting program was given. There was more than the usual amount of business, one item of which was a liberal contribution to the Red Cross war fund. An interesting and instructive paper was given from the history of Mary and Martha Washington by Mrs. Ella Grose. Entertaining reports were given by Mrs. Block and Mrs. Dysart of the state conference of the D. A. R. which was held at Elgin. Mrs. Read favored the chapter with two vocal selections in her most charming manner.

The hostesses served light refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed. The December meeting will be a reception tendered to the State Regent, Mrs. George T. Page.

THE STUDY OF WORDS.

The study of words: It may sound to you a dry thing, yet I promise you it is not, very far from it. And this brings me to suggest that the habit of one of the great writers of studying carefully from a good dictionary five words each day is one from which we might all of us get a good deal of profit. Or, take a good book of synonyms, for example and learn from it each day five words meaning what similar comparing and weighing carefully the meanings and values of them. Notice the degrees of force in the following: To dislike, to hate, to loathe, to detest, to abhor—each note struck is a little stronger, higher, we might say, like an ascending crescendo scale. So, to instruct to teach, to educate, are each quite different of meaning. So, rebuke, reprimand, censure, blame, are all of one color, but of how many different shades of meaning. So, too, misfortune, calamity, disaster; so weak, feeble, decrepit; and what delicate difference between fame and renown, or feminine and womanly and womanish?

GIRLS STOP! WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP

SOAP DRIES YOUR SCALP, CAUSING DANDRUFF, THEN HAIR FALLS OUT.

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through the hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulating the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what the showers are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The commander of the Turkish forces at Beirut, Syria, in a formal note addressed to the American consul general and intended for the British and French governments, announced that for every Mussulman killed in the bombardment of any open and unfortified port, three British or French subjects will immediately be executed. The Turkish note says, moreover, that the commander refuses to take the responsibility for any uprising against Christians that might follow such a bombardment.

The Turkish commander stated that for any Turkish property damaged compensation will be exacted by seizure of property of British and French subjects in equal value. The communication asks that the British and French consuls be advised of his determination.

Official advice reaching Washington gave the Washington officials and diplomats the foregoing information.

CLAIMS RUSSIANS REPULSED

Berlin Says Czar's Forces Were Driven Back Across Frontier.

Berlin, via London, Nov. 11.—Another Russian repulse on the blood-drenched and trench-scarred hills of the eastern frontier of East Prussia has been reported to Berlin from Gumbinnen in dispatches following up Monday's announcement of the capture of 4,000 Russians.

Simultaneously with their operations against the main German army under General Von Hindenburg on the line of the River Warthe the Russians attempted to break into East Prussia by the old route south of Wirballen, but they were met at the frontier by General Von Morgen's army, and after very heavy fighting were driven back across the frontier.

REGARDING ROOSEVELT.

The Rockford Star, a democratic newspaper, has the following to say regarding Colonel Roosevelt and his political career:

"The electors voted against the progressive party for several reasons, but chiefly because they are determined to put an end to Rooseveltism. They are tired of his noise, bombast and confusion. They have become weary of his denunciation of everything and everybody and do not believe that all who do not agree with him are liars and malefactors.

Roosevelt became a candidate for a third term though he declared the precedent against electing a president three times should not be violated and that he would not accept a third election. In the face of this pledge he became a candidate. Had he been the choice of the Chicago convention there would have been no attempt to form a third party. Defeated he became angry and sought the overthrow of the party that gave him every honor he has ever received. In reciprocation he has aimed to wreck the party to which he owes everything. His attempt to destroy the influence of the courts, the bulwark of our liberties, his contempt of the constitution, his exaggerated ego, have ended his public career. He will still be able to draw large crowds, but in the future, as on last Tuesday, the crowds will refuse to follow him. His sun has set. His day is done.

The progressive party may put a candidate in the field in 1916 but it is doubtful. Mr. Roosevelt founded that party and he has founded it.

THE GERMAN NAVY.

As the newest of the great navies the German navy is without impressive maritime traditions to be reflected in its nomenclature. The German navy came into being with the German empire forty years ago. The Prussian navy, which it succeeded, however good, was very small, and few German laurels had been gathered in combats at sea. Consequently when it sought the pages of history for names synonymous with courage and capacity it was limited to those that told of the deeds of generals. The Gneisenau is named for Blucher's chief of staff, the Scharnhorst for the great organizer of the war of liberation, the Von Roon for the famous war minister, the Goeben for a conspicuous lieutenant of the great Moltke. The Yorck, which is reported to have been blown up by a mine, took its English-sounding name from that General Yorck who led the way when Prussia began to desert Napoleon's falling fortunes after the Moscow campaign. Yorck was of English ancestry and was proud of the fact. His descendants write their name Yorck von Wartenburg, and one of them is the author of a rather celebrated work on strategy. Yorck's statue stands in Berlin for all men to see how much Prussia owes to men who drew their descent from non-German lands.—Exchange.

ARBITER OF RAILROADS.

The Interstate Commerce commission is ostensibly a judicial body. It is expected to be above politics, although the deeply grounded hostility to railroads in the west has seemed to direct its action. It is presumed to be guided by experts, although Joe Folk and politicians of this sort have been too often its leaders. It is intended to be guided by counsel of open mind and selects Louis D. Brandeis.

Mr. Brandeis is a shrewd and capable citizen with whom antipathy to railroads is a habit. He who knows nothing of railroad management at first hand assumes to instruct railroad operators how to run their business. He who is special counsel for this judicial body, charged with seeking the truth without prejudice, has constituted himself in this action, as he has before, an attorney for the opposition. He who is engaged to aid the commission in determining the level of justice upon which carrier and shipper shall stand, instructs the commission that has no testimony showing the need of rise in rates and that it hasn't the power to grant the advance anyhow.—Syracuse Post Standard.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Hurry up and get the railroads of the United States into the hands of the government, that this country may be made prosperous like those of the Old World where government of the Swiss railroads asks the government for a loan of $16,000,000 to meet the obligations of the next year and incidentally calls for the right to increase the rates which may legally be charged for fares and freight carrying. And those railroads of Switzerland were supposed to be the finest examples of the benefits of government ownership. With the American tourists eliminated by war the railroads see small pickings for the next year, and the people are called upon to pay the bills by taxation. That is the way the government ownership business gets by all over the world.—Worcester Telegram.

WHO SHOULD LIGHT COME FROM THE LEFT SIDE?

The well known fact that, when using the eyes for any near work, the illumination should come from the left side instead of the right is often disregarded. Let any one who considers the matter of little importance once demonstrate to himself the difference and he will never forget it. Take a pencil and paper and try to write while in such a position that the light will fall from the right side. The shadow of the hand or pencil or both is thrown on the paper in such a way as to partly cover the characters one is making. This necessitates a closer viewpoint and a conscious strain on the eyes. Now let the position of the writer be reversed so that the light falls on the work from the left side. He will notice that the shadows fall away from the work he is doing and leave the field unobscured. In making the change he cannot help but notice the feeling of ease that immediately is experienced by the eyes. This applies to any other kind of near work in which the fingers work under the guidance of the eyes. This fact should be remembered in planning school rooms, work rooms, offices and any place where steady close work is to be performed.

A POOR INVESTMENT

Don't buy a headache with the plunk for which you tolled today; a headache is the poorest junk on which to waste your pay! You drift into the booze bazar, when leisure hours have come, and lean against the shining bar, and call for beer or rum; for ruined nerves your coin you waste, for bleared and bloodshot eye, for headache and for darkbrown taste—these things are what you buy. A headache, when you get it free, is looked on as a curse; but when you buy it—hully chee! I know of nothing worse. A man who's feeling well and hale, and husky as a horse, goes forth and blows his hard-earned kale for headaches and remorse; he spends his money, earned in sweat, for misery and pain, for suffering and sorrow, yet he thinks that he is sane! If you must waste your weekly wage, oh, rash, imprudent man, then buy a roorback in a cage, or moonshine in a can. Oh, buy a monkey made of brass, that climbs a concrete tree, but don't buy headaches in a glass, for you can get them free!

BULLIES.

A bully is a man who isn't happy unless some one is afraid of him.

Bullies are born and not made and constitute about the only possible argument for infanticide. As soon as a bully gets big enough to hse his fists he picks out some one a little smaller and begins target practice. By the time he is fourteen years old he usually has acquired a collection of several dozen boys whom he can whip.

This makes the bully very happy and it also keeps him very busy. He has to keep his victims in a proper state of terror by punching their heads in a methodical and regular manner. It is hard work and it is no wonder that a successful bully is unable as a rule to keep up under the strain of his studies and has to drop out of school at an early age.

Human strength is very desirable and it is indeed a fine sight to see a young bully in all the pride of his large muscles and tough fists dancing around a boy one or two sizes smaller than he and hitting him with perfect coolness and self-command. But it is a much finer sight to see him tackle some strange boy who isn't very large but who has a mule kick concealed in one fist and a pile driver in the other. Those who have watched the bully's look of confidence and brutal joy fade to dismay and abject terror as the quiet young stranger remodels his face, changing the shape of his nose and adding here and there little chasms and protuberances declare that no moving picture film can do justice to the sight.

The only way to cure a bully is to have him operated upon in this way. If not cured he grows up into a strong bull-necked man who abuses his wife with hoarse roars, keeps the children looking out for bomb proofs and swears at his stenographer who needs the money and can't resign.

The man or boy who will take a bully aside in a quiet way and operate upon him until his nose is on the bias and his eyes look like a cubist painting is doing humanity the greatest possible service and should be encouraged with a medal, instead of being reproved for fighting. He is not really fighting. He is hammering an idea into an unusually thick skull.

GOD IN THE MICROSCOPE AND GOD IN INSTINCT

into five. Put matter and its laws together and before you get life you must add one, and that one is God.

"The cell which builds the body is apparently structureless; that is, there is neither bone nerve nor brain in it. Structureless germinal matter and physical law cannot build the tissues. They lack one and that one is God.

"Who taught the nerve builders the nature of nerve fiber, that they should build the nerves with the power and for the purpose of sending impulses? The nerve builders and the muscle builders are independent of each other and neither knows what the other is doing. The workmanship of these germinal artisans gives unmistakable evidence of far-reaching design. Whose design? Not that of the workers, for they are ignorant of their own operations and of their fellow workers. Two and two cannot make five. They lack one. The one is a designer and that designer is God."

God in the Instinct.

This afternoon Dr. John's subject was "A Glimpse of God in the Instinct." He said in part:

The horse sometimes reasons; likewise the dog and various other animals. An animal makes use of reason when it profits by its own experience.

There are three kinds of animal actions in which means are adjusted to ends, namely, reflex, instinctive and rational.

Reflex actions are beyond the control of the will and are generally beyond the sphere of consciousness. The beating of the heart and the chief process of digestion, circulation and respiration are instances of reflex action. The intelligence in these actions does not belong to the animal itself.

Instinctive actions are under the control of the will and the animal is conscious of them. All the animals of the same species under the same circumstances do the same things in the same way. They work according to a plan, but they do not perceive that it is a plan. Each animal does its work just like every other animal of its species, just like its ancestors have done and like its posterity will do after it. This class of actions embraces the greater part of the volitional work of the lower animals, such as cell building of bees, the nest building of birds and other forms of animal industry. In these cases the animals seem to proceed consciously to adopt means to ends, but they do it blindly. In this class of actions the animal does not benefit by its individual experience. It strikes out on no new paths.

Rational actions are those in which the animal profits by its own experience and strikes out on new paths.

The speaker gave numerous instances illustrating each of these kinds of action. There is intelligence manifested in each kind of action. That intelligence of the reflex action is obviously not that of the animal itself, for it is not conscious of the action. The intelligence of the rational act is evidently that of the animal itself, for its profits by its own experience. But whose is the intelligence of the instinctive act? When the spider builds its ingenious web; marvelous intelligence is manifested. Whose intelligence is it?

One answer to this question is: that it is the intelligence of the individual animal based on its own personal experience. But this cannot be, for the animal performs its very first act without experience, and performs it as accurately as it does after it has had experience. The speaker gave examples of chicken, blindfolded the instant of breaking the shell, but which on having the obstructions removed began immediately to peck for insects placed within their reach, and never once missing their victim.

But suppose we grant that the laws of heredity and natural selection are all the terms of the problem and that they can account for all the

It reached the beam; it thrilled, it curled;

It blessed the warmth that cheers the world;
It rose towards the dungeon bars;
It looked upon the light and stars.

It felt the life of bursting spring;
It heard the happy skylark sing;
It caught the breath of morns and eves,
And wooed the swallows to its leaves.

By rains and dews and sunshine fed,
Over the outer wall it spread;
And in the day beam waving free,
It grew into a steadfast tree.

Wouldst know the moral of the rhyme?
Behold the heavenly light and climb!
To every dungeon comes a ray

Of God's interminable day."

RUBENSTEIN & CO. TO HOLD BIG SALE

A genuine sacrifice sale to last ten days will be held at the store of Rubenstein & Co., commencing Saturday, Oct. 14th. On account of the continued warm weather the demand for fall and winter merchandise has been light and consequently too big a stock is the result at this time of the year. The prices quoted in this issue, page three, offer inducements to every economical shopper and the object is to reduce their large stock even at a loss, rather than carry any winter merchandise over to the next season.

Dramatic Notes

OPERA HOUSE.

"The Futility of Revenge" is the two reel feature for tonight's program, and it is one of those remarkably strong Powers dramas with intense interest throughout. "The Way of Life" is an Imp detective drama, throbbing with excitement, a rare treat for anyone who likes thrilling pictures along with perfect photography. "Curing a Lazy Wife," is one of those Crystal comedies that is exuberantly funny without overstepping the bounds of foolishness. On next Sunday evening the Majestic Stock Company, who played the Divorce Question, last Sunday and turned away over one hundred people, will play "The Warning" with an entire new scenic production. The same popular prices will be charged, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

FAMILY THEATRE

A realistic and wonderful picture will be shown at the Family this evening entitled "Storm at Sea." The Cook Next Door is a very amusing comedy and Etienne of the Glad Heart, in two reels, is a subject that will appeal to the spectators and hold their interest to the finish. The four reels to be shown this evening cover such a variety of subjects that the program is sure to please everybody. Tomorrow evening the Galvins will present their new musical comedy entitled "The Doll Girl."

PRINCESS THEATER.

Tonight the Princess theater will show two big features. The first is entitled "Erie, the Red's Wooing." A Domino feature with Joseph Dowling and Frank Burke in the leading roles. This is a thrilling story of ancient Norse life, and this is a picture with a plot and story never seen before in motion pictures, something new and real full of excitement and realism. The other picture is entitled "Old Jackson's Girl." A Thanhouser drama with Morris Foster and Mayre Hall in the leading roles. This is a story of a western girl's heroism. This picture has its scenes laid in Yellowstone Park with scenery in abundance and clever acting and a story that everyone will be pleased with.

PRINCESS THEATER.

On Thursday night the 19th episode of the "Million Dollar Mystery" will be shown at the Princess theater. One day Florence and Norton go for a walk through the woods and by a series of co-incidents both wander in the direction of a cave where there is a meeting of the Black Hundred and find themselves in most desperate danger. Meanwhile the Countess goes to call on Florence and while going through the grounds a mysterious stranger puts a blank note in her hand and says "This is Stanley Hargrave. This will put an end to the persecution of your father." The countess rushes to the cave where the conspirators are supposed to be and only finds one of them, and he informs her that Braine and the other men are working on a motor boat a short distance away. Meanwhile Florence riding through the woods sees the countess and one of the gang alight from a taxi and enter a secret cave. Florence awaits in amazement and soon she sees the Countess and the gang leave. Florence then presses the secret button and Carranza Mystifies Situation.

What further mystifies the situation is that Sebastian Carranza, nephew of General Carranza, deposed constitutional chief, has moved 1,500 constitutional troops from the garison at Piedras Negras opposite Eagle Pass to attack Saltillo, capital of the state of Coahuila. Saltillo is held by General Luis Gutierrez whose brother, General Eulalio Gutierrez, has been sworn in as provisional president of Mexico by the Aguas Calientes convention.

Colonel Carranza, according to dispatches received by Constitutional Consul General Rafael Muzquiz, had previously warned General Gutierrez he would attack Saltillo unless Gutierrez swore allegiance to General Carranza. This, presumably, Gutierrez refused to do.

Carranza's Family in U. S.

Saltillo, center of a rich agricultural district is 225 miles south of Piedras Negras. The towns are connected by the National Railways of Mexico. General Carranza's family has been at Piedras Negras under the protection of the first chief's nephew but is reported now to have crossed the border into the United States at Eagle Pass. General Villa is expected to immediately dispatch a strong force of troops from Torreon to Saltillo to reinforce Gutierrez. Saltillo is 100 miles east of Torreon. The cities are connected by railroad.

Villa, of Course, Suspicious.

Following the announcement by constitutionalists that Carranza had decided to yield to the wishes of the Aguas Calientes convention the troop movement is regarded as significant and, by Villa supporters, his army concentration is looked upon with suspicion.

FRENCH HAVE MORE SHIPS

Three Superdreadnaughts Launched and Two Others About Ready.

New York, Nov. 11.—Three new superdreadnaughts of the most powerful type of battleship in the French navy have been launched during the last month in France without any word thereof reaching the outside world.

The new battle ships are the Normandie, the Gasconne and the Flanaders. Two other superdreadnaughts of the same class, the Languedec and the Bearn, are now building and will be launched at an early date.

The armament of the new French superdreadnaughts is exceptionally heavy. It includes twelve 124 inch, 45 calibre guns, twenty-four 5.5 inch, 45 calibre, four three pounders and six submerged 21 inch torpedo tubes.

enters the cave, and while she is investigating the chambers she hears some one coming back and she conceals herself while the countess and the conspirators seat themselves at a table and have a consultation in regard to the mysterious note. Florence through a bit of clever work extracts the note from one of the conspirators pockets and realizing that they will begin a hunt for the missing note takes her riding boots off and plunges into the under ground stream and escapes in a row boat but not until after the conspirators have seen her. Norton standing on the bank sees Florence's peril and after much bravery he saves her.

HUNTER MUST KEEP OFF FARMS WHICH ARE QUARANTINED

OPEN SEASON FOR QUAIL AND CHICKENS AROUSES FARMERS TO ACTION.

PREVENT SPREAD OF DISEASE

Fear That Hunters Will Carry Foot and Mouth Disease Germs on Clothing.

INFORMATION FOR HUNTERS.

Season for hunting prairie chickens opened at midnight and closes at midnight November 18. No one hunter is allowed to shoot, kill or take more than three chickens in one day.

The season for hunting bobwhite quail opens at midnight Nov. 10 and closes at midnight Dec. 10.

No one hunter is allowed to shoot kill or take more than 12 quail in one day.

Partridges, Mexican blue quail, California mountain quail, California valley quail, Hungarian partridge, black grouse or woodcock are immune and cannot be shot or taken until after July 1, 1920.

The season for shooting mourning doves closes Nov. 1.

The season for shooting squirrels, geese, ducks, madhens and all other waterfowl is now open.

The season for shooting squirrels will close at midnight November 14. Violators of the hunting laws are liable to a fine of not less than $15 and not more than $50, for each offense and must pay the court costs.

With the season for hunting prairie chickens, quail, pheasants and other game birds open, hundreds of hunters prepared today to start on their expeditions into the country defying armed farmer hands who are patrolling sections where the foot and mouth disease has broken out.

Fear Disease Spread.

Hunters who go upon farms that have been quarantined by the state health authorities because of the existence of foot and mouth disease among cattle are liable to arrest and prosecution. The farmers, whose cattle have so far escaped the plague fear that germs will be carried into their pastures and cow yards by the hunters. State and government experts says that the germs can be easily carried on a man's shoes, on automobile tires or any other object which comes in contact with it. The farmers say that hunters will roam over every foot of ground in the farm district if allowed and in this manner will spread the disease to cattle that have so far escaped.

The Trey O' Hearts

Whereupon, with a smart jerk of his wrist, Mr. Marrophat sent the card spinning and sailing out through the open window to lose itself in the night. The watcher didn't see it fall, and though he spent an unconscionable time searching for it in the deep dust of the roadway, he went his way in the end with curiosity unsated: Fate had reserved that card for a higher purpose.

It Was a Trey of Hearts.

Undisturbed, it lay where it had fallen, face upward, not a dozen feet from the front door of the Mountain house, until another day dawned on Mesquite.

Then, in the clear light of that dawn, four more strangers straggled into town—two weary and haggard men, two footsore and bedraggled women. One of these last was dressed in a suit of man's clothing, much the worse for wear.

At sight of the Mountain house the party betrayed slight symptoms of a more cheerful spirit: rejoicing in its promise of food and drinks and beds withal wherein to sleep, the four quickened their steps.

But of a sudden one of the women—she who wore the garments of her sex—paused, uttered a low cry, a thrill with terror, and clutching the arm of the man nearest her, pointed down to the card that stared up from the dust at her feet.

It was a Trey of hearts.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

Full Flight.

"Oh, what can it mean?" Rose whispered brokenly, clinging to her lover's arm. "Surely you don't think . . . Surely, it must be accidental . . . Surely it can't mean—"

"I'm afraid it does," Alan Law responded gravely, eyeing the front of the Mountain house. "Our luck holds consistently—that's all. It wouldn't be us if we didn't pick out the one place where Marrophat and Jimmy chose to stop over night. Fortunately, it's early; I doubt they're up. With half a show we ought to be able to find some way of putting a good distance between us and this town before they waken . . . Tom!"

But Mr. Barcus was already at his elbow, in thorough sympathy with Alan's interpretation of the significance to be attached to the card that trembled in Rose's hand.

"Sharp's the word!" he agreed. "And there's a motor car over there, in front of the blacksmith's. Probably we can hire her—"

"Trine's car!" Alan ejaculated, swinging round and recognizing the automobile at a glance. "Then he's here, as well!"

"Looks like it," Barcus admitted. "But so much the better. We'll just naturally take the darn' thing off his hands, and I'll bet a dollar there isn't another car within a radius of fifty miles! We'll be well out of these giddy mountains long before he finds anything to chase us with."

But his confidence was demonstrated to be premature by the discovery, which rewarded the first cursory examination, that the car was very thoroughly out of commission.

Two minutes later, however, their earnest inquiries elicited the fact that, although Barcus was justified in his surmise that the neighboring country was poverty-stricken in respect of motor cars, Mesquite itself boasted two motorcycles whose owners were not indifferent to a chance to sell them second-hand at a considerable advance on the retail list price of the machines, when new.

And thus it was that, within ten minutes from Rose's discovery of that chance-fung warning in the dust, the party was again in rapid motion.

His heavy sleep disturbed by the departure of the machine bearing Barcus and Judith, Seneca Trine roused on an elbow and looked out of the window just in time to see the second motorcycle gathering momentum, Alan steering, Rose in the seat behind.

Sixty seconds later a flaunting banner of dust was all that remained to remind Mesquite that romance had passed that way—that, and a series of passionate screams emanating from the bedchamber of Seneca Trine, where the cripple lay possessed by seven devils of insensate rage.

His screams brought attendance; but it was a matter of many precious minutes before his demands could be met and Marrophat and Jimmy roused from their capricious slumbers in adjoining chambers; and half an hour elapsed before the chauffeur, roused from his own well-earned rest, succeeded in convincing the pair that pursuit with the motor car was out of the question.

Get a 10 cent box now.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarts; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermented food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascart tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too.

TELLS OF DIXON HUNTERS IN NORTH

bottoms. There was a water break across the road every three or four rods. We followed the windings of a deep ravine in this descent. The view was grand, more like the mountains than anything I have seen since I hunted in the Cascades in Washington.

We reached LaCrosse at 10 p. m., got a good supper, put the little "boat" in a garage and "hit the hay" till 5 a. m. The little boat never missed an explosion the whole day and the cyclometer registered 273 miles, pretty good for a Ford. We were ready to continue our journey at 6 a. m., but the garage man, like a great many people up here, was a little slow. He did not show up until after 8 a. m. and by the time we had taken on gas and oil it was 8:30. We followed the Mississippi through Onalaska and then turned north and began to ascend the bluffs. Any of you who have ever traveled on the Mississippi (north) will know that these bluffs are small mountains. In the distance we could see the bluffs with their sand limestone ledges. Here again the rock formation was beautiful. As Joe remarked, "All the mountains up here have cupolas on top." Before long we had climbed so near to some of these cupolas that one could have tossed a stone over them. But the view was simply magnificent.

From LaCrosse to Eau Claire we found our worst roads—sandy and little traveled. However, we reached Eau Claire for dinner and from here on the roads were better than the roads we have in Lee county. It does seem strange to me to find such roads way up here in the woods. They certainly will compare more than favorably with any we have in Lee county. We followed the "Blue Book" as far as Chippewa falls and here their directions came to an end. We only found one error in the Blue Book direction from Dixon to Chippewa Falls—quite a record for accuracy. From here on we got directions from garage men, farmers or anyone we passed. We passed Rice Lake about dark and ran to Spooner by 7 p. m. Got a good supper, gas, etc., and left for Hayward. This whole road was through pine woods and only a track. Joe was sure we were on the wrong road but we turned up in Hayward at 10 p. m., 508 miles from our destination. As I remarked before, no trouble of any kind, not even tire trouble. I surely, in the future, will take off my hat to the Ford in spite of all the jokes about having it painted red, etc. Right here allow me to introduce a beautiful (?) para phrase on the Ford from the pen of Rev. A. B. Whitcombe:

Ode to a Ford.

The Ford is my auto,
I shall not want (another one);
It maketh me to lie down beneath it;
It soureth my soul!

Less Than a Cent

You may know a woman who has a reputation for making delicious cake, biscuits, etc.,—who seems to hit it right every time. You may also know a woman, who, no matter how painstaking, can't seem to get the knack of successful baking.

Both use the same butter, same eggs, same flour and sugar. What is the difference?

Very likely it's all in the baking powder. Undoubtedly the woman with the knack uses Royal Baking Powder, and the unsuccessful woman uses an alum baking powder thinking it cheaper.

Yet the difference in the cost of a whole large cake is less than a cent.

It is economy to use

It leadeth me in the path of ridicule for its name's sake;

Yea, though I ride through the valley, I am towed up the hill.

I fear much evil, thy rods and thy engine discomfort me.

Anoint thy tires with patches; thy radiator runneth over.

I repair blowouts in the presence of mine enemies.

Surely if this thing follows me all the days of my life, I will dwell in the Bug House forever.

However, the Ford is all right and we have demonstrated the fact that (for this country) it need not take a back seat for any car.

Made Camp Nov. 7.

After clearing our road and other necessary preliminaries Joe and I made camp Monday, Nov. 1. Next day we were joined by Judge McAlpine and Art Handell. Later Sheffield, Jno. Ford, Nate Morrill and Angier Wilson joined us. We have the most complete camp ever introduced into the north Wisconsin woods. Have in our sleeping tent bunk accommodations for seventeen men. We could accommodate twenty. Our kitchen is presided over by Art Handell and is a model of neatness and convenience. Our table is simply loaded every meal. You should see the "grub" disappear before the hungry crowd. The pure air, the purest water and long hours on the balsam beds all conspire to give one a good appetite and a longer lease on life.

Ducks are scarce this year, but we are living on partridge. A few of us, including Judge McAlpine and John Ford, went out hunting last evening to replenish our supply of "red meat." We got two the first drive. John Ford was in at the death of the last one. In fact he fired the last shot just as the deer disappeared in the long grass of the swamp. We do not need a retriever this year for Johnnie "marked" the spot where the deer fell and dashed into the swamp after it. The water and mud flew for six feet above him but he was first man on the spot. He had the game bled and ready to hang up when we got over to him. When we arrived on the spot he was trying to open the pockets of his hunting coat sufficiently

Sprains, Bruises Stiff Muscles

Sloan's Liniment will save hours of suffering. For bruise or sprain it gives instant relief. It arrests inflammation and thus prevents more serious troubles developing. No need to rub it in—it acts at once, instantly relieving the pain, however severe it may be.

Here's Proof

Charles Johnson, P. O. Box 105, Lawton's Station, N. Y., writes: "I sprained my ankle and dislocated my left hip by falling out of a third story window six months ago. I went on crutches for four months, then I started to use some of your Liniment, according to your directions, and I must say that it is helping me wonderfully. I threw my crutches away. Only used two bottles of your Liniment and now I am walking quite well with one case. I never will be without Sloan's Liniment."

DEMENTTOWN DOINGS

You'll have to give it to the women, bless their hearts. When there isn't a flat iron or a rolling pin handy to have at dear hubby's head are they baffled? We answer "No," in accents loud and clear. The morning papers tell of an irate wife throwing a piano stool at her beloved meat ticket's bean.

The moral of which should be evident to all husbands. Trade your piano stool in on a bench. The ordinary music bench is too heavy for wifely dear, to pick up and bounce off a fellow's dome.

And Miller & Son have nothing to do with our advice either. Haven't heard a word out of the Good Fellows yet; and really Christmas is drawing dreadfully close. At least so our better-half has informed us.

A certain married lady in Dixon—no, we're not going to tell her name for her hubby is a much bigger gink than we are and might inflict serious injury on us—says there are times when she feels like apologizing to her husband's lady friends for taking up so much of his time.

Tuesday Afternoon.
 Tuesday afternoon was one of disappointment for those who went to the court house expecting Emma Hutton to continue her story of the terrible tragedy at the Byers home on July 9th.

In fact, she did not appear on the stand for any length of time after the dinner hour, the time of the court being taken up with one of the greatest legal battles that has ever held the attention of a court in this county, and on the decision of Judge Graves on the intricate proposition sprung by Attorney Walter Stager rests a great deal of the fate of the two sisters, who are charged with the homicide which has shaken Whiteside county.

Stager's Objection.
 When court adjourned yesterday for dinner Emma Hutton's testimony had been stopped by an objection entered by Attorney Stager when she attempted to tell of securing a warrant before Justice Palmer for Emmanuel Byers on the day of the shooting.

This was an endeavor on the part of the defense to show that Emma Hutton did not know until her arrest that she had shot her brother, although she had previously testified that she had shot at him, but it was also an indirect attack on the character of the dead man.

As such Judge Graves notified counsel that he would not permit such testimony to go before the jury. Later Emma Hutton testified she did swear to a complaint.

She also testified that she had run away from her brother Emmanuel, who, she said, was crawling over the fence and into the potato patch before the shots were fired.

Decide This Morning.
 At this point Attorney Stager threw a fly into the ointment of the spectators by raising a technicality, and the rest of the afternoon was spent in arguing this point. The arguments waxed warm for a couple of hours and then Judge Graves retired to his chambers and called the attorneys before him where the arguments were continued, he finally notifying them that he would adjourn court until tomorrow morning when he would decide the point involved.

Enormous Crowd.
 Emma Hutton's dramatic recital of the morning of the affairs that led up to the shooting and killing of her brother was listened to breathlessly by the monster crowd that occupied every corner of the court room and they sat with bated breath as the woman told the story she believes will make the case one of self-defense and will thus clear her and her sister Lillian.

All realized that the woman who testified she was the youngest of a large family was taking upon herself a load that few would care to stoop under.

She told the story calmly until reference to the death of her mother and the treatment of her father by her brother brought the tears to her eyes and added a dramatic incident to the trial which had so far been conducted without any such occurrence.

As she sobbed her entire body shook, showing that at least the tears that welled from her eyes were as near genuine as possible to be and left the impression that she was visibly affected.

Showed Filial Emotions.
 The story of Mrs. Hutton also showed a filial disposition that many did not believe existed in her heart. She stated that she had been a regular visitor at the home of her aged father all summer long, going to the home at least two or three times a week and often driving out three times a day to aid her father. She said that this was particularly true after the return of her sister Lillian in the month of April.

Her denial of the story of Mabel Byers and her two sons regarding the threats made in June of 1913 was unexpected and it shows that the sister whom she alleges she visited will lend her aid to the case by appearing in court to verify the statement.

As Emma told her story in the morning Lillian sat dry eyed but very much interested and seemed to realize that her sister was making a great effort to save both from a verdict by a jury that might be anything but favorable.

Crawled Over Fence.
 Emma Hutton's statement that her brother crawled over the fence is another phase of the case that has never been mentioned before.

Cross-Examination.
 Emma Hutton has only finished a part of the journey as a witness for after she has completed her direct testimony she must submit herself to

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

DIXON PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW HOW TO READ AND HEED THEM.

Disordered kidneys give many signals of distress.
 The secretions may be dark, contain sediment.

Passages are sometimes frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is often present day and night.
 Headaches and dizzy spells may occur.

Weakened kidneys should receive quick help.
 Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, backache and urinary disorders.

Dixon evidence proves their worth. John Edous, 812 West Fifth street, Dixon, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for lame back and kidney trouble and they have done me a great deal of good. I was suffering from a lame back and my kidneys were out of order. Doan's Kidney Pills removed the lameness and regulated the action of the kidneys. Another of the family has used Doan's Kidney Pills and the relief received has been permanent."

Mr. Edous is only one of many Dixon people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Edous had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50 cents all stores. wide to accommodate the game—the result of long practice hunting rabbits in Lee Co. We assured him we never took our game to camp, but hung it up and let it freeze. He was loathe to part with it, but on our assurance that there was no person within ten miles of the camp he consented to accompany us home.

The Judge acquitted himself very creditably considering it was his first "game" and he was a spectator with an empty gun. With his usual caution he had removed his cartridges from his rifle preparatory to a walk home through the brush. I imagine the Judge is more accustomed to walking the steel girders on buildings than he is to scrambling over logs, for he and Nathan Morrill spent the entire morning screwing spikes into the bottom of their shoes so they would not slip and lose ground if pursued by a large buck.

Attacked by Buck.

For the last four days John Ford and Sheffield have held many whispered conversations. They would disappear regularly each morning and afternoon and be away for several hours. One of the guides at last acknowledged he had brought a buck skin—horns and all, to the camp on Sheffield's suggestion. A silver dollar generously donated to him by "Sheff" had pledged him to secrecy. Our curiosity was gratified yesterday. One of the guides returning from a "still hunt," had seen what he first took to be an enormous buck. A certain lack of gracefulness in its movements aroused his suspicion. Carefully working himself to windward of the beast he discovered that the beast was none other than Sheffield and Ford concealed in the skin of a buck. Sheff was evidently the head and was making noises and whistling in order to simulate a deer. As the guides watched this strange beast a real buck broke cover and charged the enemy. The boys were taken unawares and were completely routed. Both Sheff and Ford are in bed today and under the care of the cook. Sheff has several punctures besides bruises and abrasions. Ford being the other end of the "critter" was more fortunate and was only slightly "shaken up."

They declared to the crowd that a pole broke as they were crossing a stream and dropped them into the water. But as their clothes were dry and the observing guide is a truthful sort of a fellow we know we have the story straight. Judge McAlpine thinks they drew their scheme from a hunting experience of Blinn Smith's while hunting geese in Dakota. Suffice it to say they will doubtless, in the future, hunt with the bunch in a legitimate manner.

We are expecting Roe and Pitcher this p. m.

One of the guides has seen traces of a Gopher in one of the nearby swamps. Ford was for following at once, but we decided to wait till we had the whole bunch and could surround the camp.

The teamster is going out with the mail so I must close. Should I find time and have anything on any of the crowd I will write again.

the tender mercies of Walter Stager for a cross examination and those who have felt the sting of this veteran attorney's tongue on cross examination in as important a case as this realize that the woman will need every ounce of strength and caution she possesses, as the cross examination promises to be a feature of the case.

Little Girl Mentioned.

The injection of the name of Lillian Graham the little niece into the case, means that this girl will have to take the stand in court and tell what she saw in the orchard that afternoon, when her uncle was shot down and it hardly coincides with the story the little girl told in Chicago, for in the hearing before Judge Poff the girl told that she saw her uncle in the hay field and not in the potato patch as her aunt now says.

Expect Arguments Friday.

It was stated here today that the closing arguments will probably come Friday and that Attorney Walter Stager would close for the state while Attorney Erbstein will take care of the close for the defense.

It was anticipated that the case would be interesting today and at 7 o'clock this morning there were a number of people occupying seats in the court room so as to be sure they would be in time, and by 9 o'clock, the hour for the court to convene, every seat was taken and the hall was filled with a crowd anxious to get inside the locked doors.

When the noon recess was taken some of those inside left and there was a grand rush to take their places. Sheriff Wahl locked the doors after every seat was filled and all afternoon disappointed people walked up the hill, turned around and went back again.

Many brought their lunch and the manner in which empty sacks and discarded remnants of the lunch were found by Bert Wilcox, the janitor, led Judge Graves to remark that he would inform the public that the court room was not a lunch room. The Judge said that it was "bad enough when women brought their babies and sewing into court, but when they came all day and brought a lunch with them it made it appear too much like a picnic."
